WRITING AN E-MAIL

English emails are usually brief and precise. The purpose is clearly stated and there is no place for irrelevant information. Emails are similar to letters; however, emails are today more common than letters but they look alike because they contain similar parts. Look at the pictures and identify their main parts.

Parts of a letter

Parts of an email

Greetings

The greeting is the way you greet the person you are writing to. There are two styles formal and informal. The most common punctuation style is with coma (,); but many American Companies use the colon (:)

Formal greetings:

- To whom it may concern, (A quien corresponda)
- Dear Mr. / Mrs. / Miss
- Dear Sir, / Madam,

Informal greetings:

- Hello, Hi, Hey

INTRODUCTION

- Thank you for your email / information…
- I hope you're doing well.
- I hope this email finds you well.

PURPOSE

- I am writing to …
- We refer to …
- We would like to ….

BODY

The body is the main content.

CLOSING OF THE BODY

- We look forward to hearing from you soon.
- If you require more information, please let us know.
- Do not hesitate to contact us if you have questions.
- Let me know if you need help.
- Thank you for your time and consideration.

Closings

Close your letter in the same style you used in the greeting:

| Formal closing: | Less formal: | Informal: |
|---|---|---|
| Your sincerely, | Kind regards, | Best, |
| Yours faithfully, | Best regards, | Hugs, |
| Sincerely, | Cordially, | Cheers, |
| | Best wishes, | Love from, |